A WORD FROM THE CHIEF

It is my pleasure to share with you some highlights from 2015 that illustrate what YOUR Lincoln Police Department accomplished in service to our community throughout the year. As a Nation, we witnessed some significant tensions unfold between law enforcement and community in select parts of the country that offered a unique insight on the associated dangers police officers face daily in the performance of their duties. While Lincoln was not immune to crime, we did enjoy a relatively low crime rate per capita (14.8 crimes per 1,000 residents) due, in strong part, to the collaborative relationship with our residents. This partnership is reflective of a shared desire to sustain a quality of life we all have come to expect and appreciate in our community, which has been built on a foundation of mutual respect. Working together, we have continued to make great strides toward enhancing the livability of our city.

Among our accomplishments this past year was the hiring of two full-time police officers; one to replace a retired member and the other as an addition to the staffing to backfill the redeployment of a School Resource Officer position funded by the Western Placer Unified School District. These staffing adjustments brought our complement of sworn police officers from 19.5 to 20.5; the first increase in sworn staffing since the "Great Recession of 2009". Additionally, we launched a body-worn camera program as a pilot to assess the value of the device from an evidentiary application and deployed new state-of-the-art mobile and portable radios to extend our interoperability with other law enforcement partners in the region.

Conversely, we experienced increases in property crimes over the year that has reinforced the importance of community collaboration and the need for vigilance at all times. The passing into law of Proposition 47 in the November 2014 General Election shifted more than 400 crimes from felonies to misdemeanors or less, which has created a backlog in the criminal justice system to effectively process, charge, and convict offenders. Looking forward, we will need to find more creative ways in which to address rising property crime and mitigate its impact on our community.

As we continue to assess the challenges that lie ahead, we must recognize that progress is not possible without change. The LPD stands apart from others as we continue to evaluate ways in which we can remain efficient with the resources we have and innovative in the way we utilize them. I remain committed to continuing to work with all of you to keep our great city safe.

Regards,
Rex Marks
Chief of Police
